

.CV - Daniel Koefoed

Short summary:

I'm a 32-year-old photography geek and father of one who is currently studying web development at Nackademin in Stockholm, Sweden.

Throughout my previous career I've worked within or in direct proximity to the printing industry, from the production floor to being a freelancing graphic designer of printed media.

I decided to make the jump to the world of web design and programming a couple of years ago and couldn't be happier with my choice!

As a person I would describe myself as curious and meticulous. I like to work with a fixed deadline but an agile approach to planning and to find a clean and simple solution to a difficult problem is one of the best feelings I know.
